NEW HONGKONG AND SHANGHAI BANK OPENS ON SATURDAY

Magnificent New Structure On The Bund

COST 60 LAKHS

Many Notables To Attend Official Opening

BY DAVID ARAKIE

Saturday will be a red letter day in the annals of the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank, for it will mark the opening of their magnificent new building on The Bund. When completely finished it will be the finest and most imposing modern structure in the Far East, costing six million taels. The opening ceremony has been fixed for Saturday and the Bank will transact business in its new premises on Monday, June 25.

The Bank management has been observing the greatest secrecy about the interior of the building, no member of the public being permitted to visit the place, the idea being to give every one on Saturday the greatest surprise. Passes to enter the new building have been given only to members of the architects' firm or the contractors. At the opening ceremony a distinguished gathering is scheduled, and the function will be an impressive one. The British Minister at Peking, Sir Ronald Macleay, will preside, and the General Manager, the Hon. Mr. A. G. Stephen, will also be present.

A MONUMENT

The new structure is certainly an indication of the faith of the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank in the future development and trade of China, in the future of Shanghai and also in the future of the Bank itself. The Bank has not been discouraged by the unsettled state of the country and its ambitious building program is quite consonant with the premier position it holds in the banking world, not only in China and the Far East but in the whole of the Orient. The manner in which it has assisted trade in past years and the encouragement it has given to enterprises in Shanghai, Hongkong and elsewhere has secured for it a wonderful goodwill—not only of foreigners but of the Chinese community as well. Its confidence in the future is really encouraging at the present time when trading in China is attendant with great risks.

Although naturally lacking the magnificence and purity of design of the octagonal and main banking hall, perhaps one of the most arresting points of the new building is the Chinese banking hall on the ground floor. Its bizarre effects are dazzling and unique in the extreme. The color scheme to some might appear weird, but it is in harmony with the idea to make it typically Chinese. The design of the whole building is of even greater dignity and beauty than the preliminary plans. The perfect accord produced by the expert combination of the architects and contractors has resulted in a finished scheme which is as near perfection as can be hoped.

NOT COMPLETED

Although the Bank will open its doors to business on the Bund on Saturday the building, as a whole, will not be entirely ready until some five months from then. The ground floor and the mezzanine floor have been finished and a portion of the first floor as well.

The present temporary premises of the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank will be occupied by the Chinese Maritime Customs until the new building plans, now being prepared, are ready. Work on the proposed new Customs building will be pushed rapidly as soon as the plans are approved of. The transformation of The Bund in recent years has been really startling, almost all the institutions owning properties on the waterfront showing a keen desire to vie with each other in building the finest structure. The reconstruction work has progressed at a rapid and bewildering pace, and pretentious edifices have gone up and are going up on all sides.

Constructional work on the new Hongkong and Shanghai Bank building had been carried on at a feverish rate since the Sung Vung-sing, who operates a lodging house on Canton Road, stepped out the other evening to negotiate for a couple of bucketsfull of hot water for the dinnertime tea demand. When he returned he found Wong Ching-san poking about the corridors of the hostelry and otherwise behaving in a manner totally unbefitting one whose name was not on the hotel register. Sung handed the interloper over to the first available policeman and appeared in the Mixed Court next morning to push the charge against the captive.

Wong was better in his repudiation of Sung's suspicions and maintained that it was a scandalous way in which to treat a solid citizen. Of course he had not gone into the place to steal anything. He had been walking about the streets and his feet were getting sore. He thought the proprietor of such a prosperous and honorable looking lodging establishment might well have a comfortable and superfluous pair of old shoes about the premises which would aid a pilgrim on his way. And he had merely gone inside to inquire. Steal anything? What was there to steal in a lodging house anyway, Wong wanted to know.

The Court was not prepared to answer the query, being at this juncture busied in reading a police record which set forth that Wong was a person of highly undesirable qualifications of citizenship and had been previously a reluctant visitor at the Mixed Court. Presently Wong was re-expelled from the Settlement with vigor.

EMBARRASSMENT

A debt is a debt with Ng Noen-hai and he does not believe in stalling off his creditors with the fairy tale about the remittance due next month. Which same scruples caused him the embarrassment of a visit to the Mixed Court the other day.

Ng went a few days ago to the bicycle livery of Yan Foh-kee and engaged a bike for an hour's pedaling. When the machine was not returned Yan went out on a still hunt. He found his property without difficulty at Ng's address.

"I didn't like to bring it back," Ng explained, "because I didn't have the money to pay for the ride."

NO WRONG IN MIND

Tsen Ching-ling, keeper of a cloth shop on Shantung Road, appeared to testify against Eu Zung-sz. The lady, he said, had come in pretending that she wished to make a purchase, but had gone out without having done so. Notwithstanding this fact, she had some of his goods in her possession when she was arrested.

The accused, before receiving the three months sentence awarded her, entered a denial. She only wanted to inspect the cloth, she declared, before buying it.

Says Leprosy Can Be Ousted In 3 Decades

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 19.—According to the Daily Chronicle, after the International Leprosy Congress at Strasbourg in July, a committee of experts and Dominion representatives will take steps to organise a campaign to control leprosy in India, Africa and other parts of the Empire.

Lt.-Col. Sir Leonard Rogers, Physician and Lecturer at the London School of Tropical Medicine, says that there are 3,000,000 lepers in the world, of which 1,000,000 are in China, 500,000 in Africa and 100,000 in India. We have now arrived, he declares, at a position where, with a little push and monetary backing, the scourge could practically be wiped out in three decades.

JEWS WAGE WAR ON FORD BOOM, OTHERS BOOSTING HIM

New York Leaders To Organize Against Candidacy

FEAR PREJUDICE

Ford-For-President Clubs Are Springing Up Everywhere

(BY UNITED PRESS)

New York, June 19.—Prominent Jews of this city have undertaken a nationwide organisation, the purpose of which will be to stem the rising tide of sentiment in favor of nominating Henry Ford, the Detroit motor car magnate, for the Presidency.

The leaders of the new movement take the position that Ford is entirely too prejudiced against the Jewish people, as proven in his numerous anti-Semitic campaigns, and that to introduce nationality issues into a presidential campaign would be harmful and un-American.

A group of noted Jewish financiers will finance the anti-Ford campaign.

In the meantime Ford-for-president clubs are springing up all over the country and leaders of the Ford Movement are building up a nation wide organisation in preparation for the pre-convention battle next year.

Legations Compile Bandit Claim List

Peking, June 19.—The British, American, French and Italian Legations are compiling statements of claims with regard to the damages suffered by their respective nationals in connection with the Lincheng bandit outrage.

It is understood that the claims will be made through Senhor de Freitas, the Portuguese Minister and Doyen of the Diplomatic Corps. The Doyen's note to be shortly addressed to the Waichiaopu will embody, besides the separate claims of the different Legations mentioned above, sanctions, which the Powers in treaty relation with China deem fit to impose on the authorities concerned to prevent the recurrence of a similar outbreak and for the future protection of foreign lives and interests in this country.

Hankow, June 19.—It is reliably reported that Father Malotto, the Italian priest, who was held captive by the bandits at Yingcheng, has been taken by the desperadoes to Matien, 70 li from Yingcheng.

In an engagement with the brigands yesterday, the troops despatched to Yingcheng from Hsaokan by order of Tuchun Hsiao Yao-nan captured the son of the bandit chieftain, Lai Shao-yao. The military commanders have proposed to the bandits to exchange Lai for Father Malotto. Negotiations are in progress, but the result is unknown.

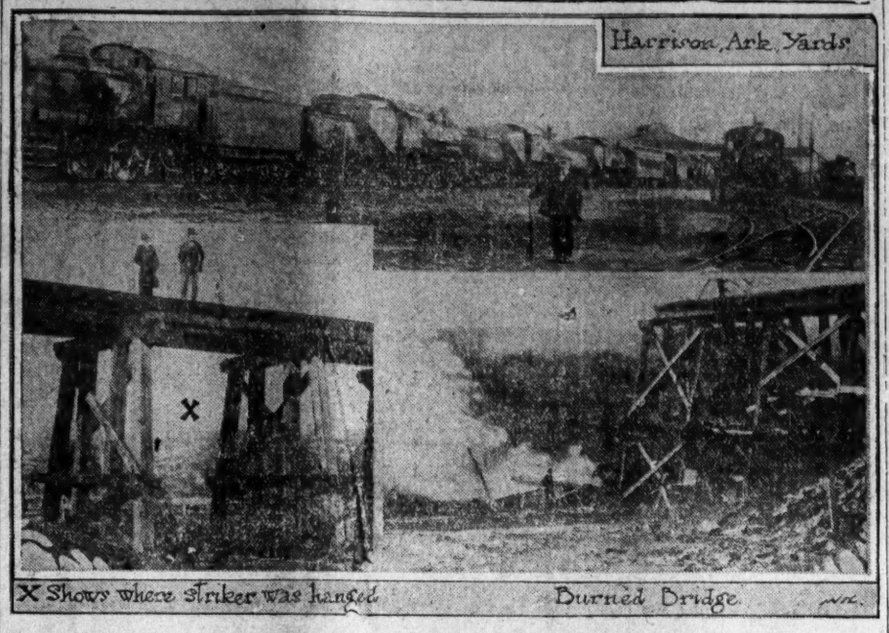
The bandits at Yingcheng were troops under the command of General Chao-chi, brother of Tuchun Chao Yun-ao's troops, they fled to Hupeh and have since lived a life of outlawry.

The attack on Tsaoshi, where is located the London Mission, by the bandits continues. An unconfirmed report has it that the gang besieging Tsaoshi will shortly flee to Yingcheng to join Lai Lao-yao's band.

Peking, June 19.—M. Cerutti, Italian Minister, has addressed a strong note to the Waichiaopu, protesting against the capture of Father Malotto, an Italian priest, by the local bandits at Yingcheng, in Hupeh.

M. Cerutti demands that the authorities concerned be instructed to effect the release of Father Malotto immediately. He declares that he reserves the right to claim indemnification.

Where Citizens Arose Against Strikers



BECAUSE of the destruction of railroad property and other overt acts, laid to rail strikers, the M. & N. A. Railroad threatened to suspend operation in a section of Arkansas served only by it. Armed citizens rose by the hundreds and drove strikers away from Harrison, Arkansas, lynching E. C. Gregor, a striker, when he fired at them. The cross indicates the place where he was hanged. One of the bridges alleged to have been burned by the strikers is shown, near Everton, Arkansas. Armed guards are shown on duty in the Harrison (Arkansas) railroad yards.

FRENCH PROHIBIT COAL TRANSPORT IN RUHR VALLEY

Means Cutting Off Of Supplies To German Industries

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, June 19.—According to the Petit Parisien, the French authorities have prohibited the transport of coal within the Ruhr and have assumed direct control of all railways in the Ruhr. This means the cutting off of the iron works and other industries from coke, making continuance of passive resistance more difficult.

The French and Belgians have up to the present controlled only the peripheral railways and not the lines connecting the chief towns in the middle of the Ruhr, for instance, the Essen-Dortmund line, which are the chief channels for distribution of supplies by trains operated by Germans.

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, June 19.—A semi-official despatch from Essen declares that the latest measures taken by the French authorities are "the beginning of a hunger blockade." No milk has reached Essen, and provisions are being sent to the large towns by means of motorlorries.

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, June 20.—What is apparently an inspired forecast of the French and Belgian reply to the British questionnaire as regards the meaning of the demand for cessation of passive resistance in the Ruhr has been contributed by Pertinax to the Echo de Paris.

Pertinax says that the French and Belgian Governments are prepared to modify their original program but require the German Government to cancel all orders given to Ruhr officials since January 10; the attitude of German officials on both banks of the Rhine must be radically changed and the German Government must cease to grant credits to Ruhr industry and also payment of salaries to the unemployed. This would suffice to place the workers under French control.

Pertinax reiterates that a change of the occupation regime will only be modified as and when reparations payments are made.

ARREST TOBACCO MAN ON CHARGE OF BIGAMY

Charles C. Carberry Alleged To Have Wife In New York Also

Charles C. Carberry was charged with bigamy before Judge Charles Sumner Lobingier in the United States Court for China yesterday, and after taking evidence of arrest, the case was continued until Friday afternoon.

Carberry was arrested on June 13 following information received by [illegible] United States District Attorney [illegible] Hines, in which he is alleged to have married twice. Under the name of B. Pinder he is alleged to have married Frances Newman on October 21, 1920, in New York. He came to Shanghai about a year ago to work for the British Cigarette Company in Pootung, and on February 11, 1923, is alleged to have married Evprazia Zimina, knowing that his lawful wife was still alive in New York.

Carberry pleaded not guilty to the charge when he was arraigned yesterday. Major C. P. Holcomb, defending, asked that he be released of light bail but U. S. Attorney Husar objected, demanding G.$10,000 bail. In view of the fact that he is to be tried on Friday Judge Lobingier did not grant bail.

Six Foreigners And 157 Chinese Died Last Week

Six foreigners out of a foreign population of 20,750, and 157 Chinese out of a population of 814,000 in the International Settlement died last week from all causes according to the weekly report of Commissioner of Public Health C. Noel Davis. Communicable diseases reported during the week were as follows: Small-pox, one foreigner and one Chinese; typhoid fever, 3 Chinese; Diptheria, one Chinese; Scarlet fever, one foreigner and one Chinese; Tuberculosis, 18 Chinese, and measles, 2 Chinese.

U.S. Court Orders Steamer Forfeited For Rum-Running

(Reuter's Service)

New York, June 20.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeal has confirmed the forfeiture of the British schooner, Henry L. Marshall, the first alleged rum-runner seized outside the three-mile limit in August, 1921.

The Court found that the vessel had unloaded without a permit and that it had not produced a manifest within a month of reaching the coast.

RAPALLO TREATY

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, June 19.—The Reichstag today adopted a bill extending the Russo-German Treaty concluded at Rapallo last year to the Soviet Republics of the Ukraine, White Russia, Georgia, Azerbaijan, Armenia and the Far East.

WU PEI-FU WANTS OLD CABINET TO ASSUME CONTROL

Chihli Warlord Makes First Pronouncement On Muddle

(Reuter Pacific Service)

Peking, June 20.—It is reported that President Li Yuan-hung expects to complete a Cabinet at Tientsin within three weeks. The Chihli party appear unperturbed by these activities.

Replying to a telegram from certain members of Parliament, General Wu [illegible] states that he [illegible] Cabinet taking charge during the absence of the President. This is General Wu's first pronouncement on the present political crisis.

Half the Cabinet Secretariat returned to work yesterday afternoon and the remainder this morning upon a promise from Mr. Kao Ling-wei that they would be paid a month's salary within three days. The staffs of several other Ministries, however, are still on strike.

Peking, June 19.—In view of a report that President Li Yuan-hung contemplates setting up a new Government at Hangchow with the support of the Fengtien and Anfu factions, the authorities at Tientsin have been instructed by General Tsao Kun to place President Li under surveillance.

Secret service men have been posted around the Li villa at Tientsin. All principal railway stations and wharves there have also been guarded by detectives.

The British Consul-General at Tientsin has lodged a protest with the Commissioner of Foreign Affairs against the presence of the Chinese police agents in the British Concession. The British Consul-General declares that the British authorities will give adequate protection to President Li who is living in the British Concession.

In connection with the political crisis in Peking, the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce at Shanghai will hold a plenary session of its members on Saturday afternoon. The members have been notified to attend the meeting, when, it is expected, important measures will be decided upon by the local merchants to cope with the situation.

A number of legislators have already arrived in Shanghai from Peking. According to them, the Parliamentarians in the Capital have lost their personal liberty, for wherever they go they are followed by detectives. All first and second class Chinese passengers leaving Peking are searched by troops at the railway station. They declare that the talk of the shifting of Parliament is premature.

No public gathering of political nature is permitted in the Chinese area in Peking and the police on duty have been doubled at night.

MASS OF LAVA 800 YARDS WIDE, 80 FEET DEEP, ENGULFS VALLEY

Mt. Etna Eruption Grows Steadily Worse, With Many Towns Submerged, Others Threatened Country People Flee From Homes In Terror Relief Expeditions Organised

(Reuter's Service)

Catania, June 20.—A stream of lava has submerged Corre railway station and blocked the road between Castiglioni and Linguaglossa.

(Reuter's Service)

Rome, June 20.—It is reported that a fluid mass of lava, between 700 and 800 yards wide, is within half a mile of Castello and is advancing a yard a minute. The stream in places is 80 feet deep. A section is now threatening the town of Giarre. The heat given off is almost unendurable. The movement of the lava is accompanied by ominous rumblings.

An air squadron has been placed at the disposal of the authorities for reconnoitring or relief purposes.

(Reuter's Service)

Rome, June 20.—Three more villages have been destroyed by the unabated flow of lava.

(Reuter's Service)

Rome, June 19.—The eruption of Mount Etna continues but the principal lava stream is advancing more slowly. It has reached within 25 yards of Castiglione Station.

King Victor has proceeded to the scene. Relief expeditions are arriving in motor lorries. Helpers describe the country from Giardini to Linguaglossa as a veritable desert. They tell pathetic stories of peasants kissing fruit trees farewell before they were surrounded by lava, praying in the market square of Piedimonte around the statue of St. Anthony, and finally fleeing before the approach of lava, leaving the statue surrounded with flowers.

The town of Linguaglossa is at present in no danger, although a lava stream is advancing thence.

TARIFF CHANGES FIGURES IN SUIT IN U. S. COURT

Chinese Sues On Dispute Over Consignment Of Tungsten Ore

Losses sustained in the sale of a consignment of tungsten ore prior to the new American tariff coming into effect were the subject of an action before Judge Charles Sumner Lobingier in the United States Court for China yesterday when the Lee Hua Company sued the American Express Company for G.$15,000 damages for alleged unlawful conversion of a consignment of ore owed by the plaintiffs.

Mr. J. Krisel appeared for the plaintiffs and Mr. F. J. Schuhl for the defendants.

Mr. Krisel, in his opening remarks, said the facts in connection with this action were quite simple, consisting principally of correspondence between the plaintiff firm and the American Express Company. Sometime in June, 1922, and pursuant to an arrangement entered into with the Shanghai office of the American Express Company, the latter had in its custody 528 bags of wolframite ore containing 35,776,685 lbs. of tungsten trioxide belonging to the plaintiffs. These were held in the city of Seattle subject to further orders from the plaintiffs as regards their disposal.

REMOVED ORE

It was alleged that on or about June 1, 1922, without the knowledge and consent of the plaintiffs the American Express Company removed the wolfram ore from Seattle to New York and sold it. Mr. Krisel said that at the time of the conversion there was pending in the House of Representatives and the Senate of the United States a bill known as H. R. 7456, by which it was proposed to levy a duty or tariff on the importation of wolfram ore. This Bill was eventually introduced in the House of Representatives and became law on September 12, 1922 and a duty of 45 gold cents per pound was levied on tungsten trioxide. It was further maintained that the American Express Company had knowledge and contemplated that the plaintiffs were holding the wolfram ore for the passage of the tariff law imposing an import duty on same. Mr. Krisel said that he would bring evidence to prove these allegations. The ore was consigned to Messrs. Chang and Drake Beall Company accompanied by drafts drawn by the plaintiffs on this firm.

DENY ALLEGATIONS

The defence of the American Express Company set out an admission that the plaintiffs had made an arrangement to have the defendants hold in custody 828 bags of wolfram subject to the orders of the plaintiffs, but in this respect the American Express Company alleged that about December, 1918 that they at plaintiffs' request shipped 26½ tons to Seattle to one Chang and Drake Beall Co., which was accompanied by drafts drawn by plaintiffs on the said firm which drafts were dishonored. The American Express Company alleged that on July 13, 1921 the plaintiffs had instructed them to sell at once the ore and had written to them to this effect. Accordingly the defendants sold the ore on July 21, 1922 but the check of Tls. 1,895.04 was presented by the American Express Company to the plaintiffs as being the net amount due them on the conversion, which check was refused.

The check was presented in Court by Mr. Schuhl, but Mr. Krisel, on behalf of his clients, declined to accept it.

Royal Dutch Earns 87,730,000 Guilders

(Reuter's Service)

Amsterdam, June 19.—The report of the Royal Dutch Petroleum Company, Limited, states that the results of 1922 were not unsatisfactory in spite of difficulties. The profits amounted to 87,730,000 guilders.

The report expresses the hope that the Dutch Government will encourage foreign use of Dutch Indies ports by reducing tariffs similarly to many foreign ports.

The Company declares that the Standard Oil combines request for permission to co-operate with Dutch companies in the Dutch Indies on the ground that Dutch interests are allowed to exploit American oilfields is an erroneous representation of facts and is merely political propaganda. The time is not yet propitious for a resumption of business with Russia but the first step in the direction of reconstruction of the Russian oil industry has been made by arrangement with the principal ex-owners of Russian oil enterprises in order to reach an ultimate agreement, removing the fear that one ex-owner will acquire the oilfields formerly belonging to the others.

Four Murderers Of Policemen To Face Executioner

Miao Chin-kwei, Kwe Ah-mo, Koo Ah-do and Wang Ah-sin, who are charged with murdering the two Chinese police constables, Chang Feng-lin and Cha Fu-ming, near the Tientungen section of the Shanghai-Woosung Railway several months ago, were turned over to the Defence Commissioner's Yamen yesterday to be shot.

It will be recalled that the two constables were stabbed and clubbed to death at different points on the railway line and had their eyes gouged out, while on duty. Recent trials of the accused at the Chinese Police Court revealed that the horrible crime was committed in a spirit of revenge, because the police had on various occasions made raids on the gambling dens operated by the accused and their gang in that locality.

U. S. CHAMBER AT PEKING HAS PLAN TO ASSIST CHINA

Would Have Four-Power Commission Investigate Conditions

(Reuters Pacific Service)

Peking, June 20.—The American Chamber of Commerce in Peking this morning handed to Reuter's correspondent a resolution, passed on June 6 and forwarded to the Washington Chamber of Commerce, but which has not hitherto been given out to the press.

The resolution expresses deep sympathy with the Chinese people who are being rapidly driven towards Bolshevism by their rulers. It mentions the increasing disorder, which has reached a state where Chinese and foreign lives and property are no longer safe, and proposes an increase in the land and sea forces of Britain, France, Japan and America with the object of protecting the railway, telegraph and postal administrations, placing these under a commission of the four Powers.

The resolution also proposes that no further loan should be advanced to the present, so-called, Government. An international commission, consisting of three members each of the above Powers, should be immediately appointed to make recommendations, within three months after its appointment, to meet the deplorable situation.

TWO INDIANS ARRESTED IN MURDER CASE

Two Indian watchmen were arrested last night in connection with the murder of another Sikh watchman named Arjan Singh, whose body, which had been weighted with stones, was found in a small creek between Great Western and Yu Yuen Roads on June 12. The men will be charged at the British Court today.

Arjan Singh, who was formerly a cook employed in the Police Department, had been missing since April 24 and a reward of $500 had been offered by the police for information as to his whereabouts. The body, when found, appeared to have been in the water for a considerable period.

Vermont Village Honors Refugee From Justice

Bristol, Vermont, June 11.—A memorial to an escaped convict is to be erected in this little town in the heart of the Green Mountains. The man, who killed a neighboring farmer in Unadilla, N. Y., was John Broodt, a Dutchman. The Outlook Club, a women's organisation of Bristol, is going to place a suitably inscribed stone marker on the site of his log hut at the foot of South Mountain because Broodt was the first white man known to have settled within the limits of the present town.

Broodt had a dispute with his neighbor in Unadilla over a line fence between their farms. A fight followed and the neighbor was killed. Broodt was convicted of murder but escaped, bought ammunition, fishing tackle and other necessities at Whitehall, and fled into Vermont. In the dense forest near South Mountain, a mile south of what is now Bristol village, he ended his flight. There he built a log cabin and remained in solitude with his faithful dog for twelve years without seeing another white man. When found by a surveying party in 1785 he was clad in deerskin and his dog, which he said had been black when he entered the woods, was nearly white.

Broodt was pardoned later. The stone chimney which he built was standing until a few years ago and even now the dilapidated hearth marks the spot of his hermitage.

DEATH RATE LAST MONTH WAS NORMAL

Health Of Settlement Satisfactory Dr. Davis Reports

The health of the International Settlement last month was satisfactory, the death rate among both foreigners and Chinese being normal, according to the monthly health report of Commissioner of Public Health C. Noel Davis.

Of deaths among Foreigners, 61 percent were among Asiatics other than Chinese. There was only one death from smallpox among Foreigners—a British subject, aged 32, who had never been vaccinated. There were three deaths from typhoid among the Japanese; these are the first which have occurred among the Foreign Resident population since February. Smallpox was still present but was diminishing among the Chinese. There were four Foreign cases notified, and the following particulars discovered concerning vaccination: 1 Indian child—unvaccinated, 1 Japanese youth—not re-vaccinated, 1 Portuguese boy—not re-vaccinated, 1 British lady—not re-vaccinated. Because of the persistence of smallpox, free vaccination was continued throughout the month in the Branch Health Offices.

The disease has not disappeared as it usually does, with the onset of the hot weather. Smallpox and plague were prevalent in Hongkong, the latter in epidemic proportions at the end of May. Freedom from plague is of the utmost importance to Shanghai from a commercial, as well as from a humanitarian, point of view. If plague once got a foothold in Shanghai, it would probably lead to serious loss of life, to dislocation of trade, and the cost of stamping it out would be millions of taels.

Anti-mosquito work has been hampered in the outlying districts by the heavy rain. Residents are asked to help as much as possible by seeing to it that their premises are cleared of stagnant water.

Here follows tables of Vital Statistics, Infectious Diseases and Outdoor Sanitary Work, including a special summary of Plague Prevention work, work done in the Municipal Laboratory, Municipal Hospitals and Slaughterhouse.

Artists And Teachers Discuss Modernism

St. Louis, Mo., June 13.—A national conference of artists, educators and others interested in art has been called by the United States Commissioner of Education to meet here to-day in connection with the annual convention of the American Federation of Arts which will be held tomorrow and the two days following. Many nationally known artists, art teachers, directors, and dealers and members of state and municipal art commissions are in attendance.

Among the subjects listed for discussion are: the use of a national art association; propaganda for art; the meaning of modernism; a picture service for schools; text books and art exhibitions for colleges; publicity art service; the Art Association, a channel for constructive recreation; art in the rural districts; international representation in art; and art in industry and

Fewer Crimes In England During Past Ten Years

London, June 13. — Less drunkenness, more burglars arrested, a big drop in minor cases, more suicides, 35 double tragedies, and British prisons not so full, are some of the outstanding features of the crime statistics for 1921, which have just been made public.

During 1921 cases of drunkenness totalled 81,383 against 98,606 in 1920 and 204,028 in 1913. Offences of violence declined to 966 in 1921 from 1,107 in the previous year. The decrease in the number of cases for offences of a less serious character, says the report, confirm the impression that poverty and distress were potent influences in determining the number of crimes and offenses during the year.

Prison returns show the number of convicted prisoners received during 1921 totalled 46,871 against 166,283 in 1913.

The London Morning Post reports the presence in Shanghai of 38 German engineers.

FRENCH BUDGET

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, June 19.—In a speech in the Senate today, M. de Lasteyrie, the Minister of Finance, declared that the ordinary budget for the first time since the war was balanced from the yield from taxation, but it was still necessary to borrow to meet the expenses of reconstruction of the devastated regions.

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, June 19.—The Senate, debating the Budget today, rejected a Socialist motion aiming at the withdrawal of the French Embassy to the Vatican.

M. Poincare declared that the Embassy was of great advantage to France, who had never sacrificed any principles for it.

CHINESE PROTEST TO LICENSING OF FOOD VENDORS

Chinese Chamber Asks Remission Of New Regulation

A protest to the new licensing system for vendors of foodstuffs in the Settlement has been received by the Council from the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce, transmitted by Mr. Hsu Yuan, Commissioner for Foreign Affairs, and the Senior Consul, Mr. G. de Rossi.

The text of the Chamber's letter to Mr. Hsu Yuan is as follows:

"The Shanghai Municipal Council issued in April a Notification announcing that as from April 1 a system of special licences for refreshment vendors would be introduced, a fee of $2 being charged every three months. Every kind of food vendor will have to pay the fee on the date on which it falls due. Nineteen conditions for the license accompanied the notification.

"The leaders of various trades have represented that small dealers in foodstuffs are at present undergoing great difficulties and cannot bear this imposition. They have therefore required this Chamber to approach the authorities concerned with a view to having it remitted. The Municipal Council, however, are of opinion that the fee is small, but small dealers have small capital and cannot possibly pay a new tax at the present time with house rents continually growing and the rates increasing in proportion. The Chamber considers it its duty to request you to communicate with the Consular Body with a view to having the question reconsidered and this measure withdrawn."

"The above letter states nothing but the truth," the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs states in forwarding the protest to the Senior Consul. "I have the honor to request that you will be so kind as to approach the Municipal Council with a view to having the licensing of food vendors remitted as an act of sympathy on account of the difficulties which these dealers are now experiencing."

May Raise The Price For Chairs To 50 Cents

The Orchestra and Band Committee of the Municipal Council has under consideration the question of raising the price of chairs at public band concerts from 20 cents to 50 cents, according to information in today's Municipal Gazette.

The Committee is as yet undecided whether to raise the general price for chairs or to divide them into two classes and charge 50 cents for the long deck chairs, the most comfortable. A report is now being awaited from the Conductor

Nanking University To Have Keen Memorial Fund

The friends and former students of the late Reverend Charles S. Keen, Dean of the Department of Missionary Training of the University of Nanking, have decided on a Keen Memorial in the form of a collection of books relating to China. $15,000 Mexican is to be raised, one-third of which is to be used for the immediate purchase of books that will serve as the foundation for the library; the balance is to be used as an Endowment Fund from the interest on which annual acquisitions of books will be made.

Eight hundred and seventy students have been enrolled and thirty-four Missions have been represented in the Nanking Language School as it is more commonly known, since its organisation in 1912. Mr. Keen both personally and professionally has been admirably fitted for the work of language study and missionary training. The need of better library facilities has been apparent, and before his death he was very much interested in securing a good collection of books which could be used in connection with the Department. Good libraries relating to China are scarce, and not only because of the personal interest in it, but also because of its great need and usefulness, it should have a unanimous appeal to Mr. Keen's former students and his multitude of friends.

Primrose Took Own Life, Verdict

cornerstone was laid by Sir Beilby Alston in May, 1921. The foundations presented many difficulties to the contractors owing to the nature of the soil and the great weight of the central dome, and also the differential loads resulting from the difference between a comparatively empty and full treasury. These have, however, all been overcome and the completed building will be a masterpiece of structural engineering.

Engine Failure Halted Explorer In Polar Flight

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 19.—The opinion is expressed by Reuter's correspondent at Christiania that Captain Amundsen's abandonment of the trans-polar flight was due to engine trouble.

Very elaborate measures had been taken to assist the explorer. Two expeditions left Bergen and Hamburg respectively to establish food depots and to lay a trail over the snowfields north of Spitzbergen by means of colored gauze dropped from aeroplanes.

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 19.—Reuter's correspondent in Seattle gives another theory to explain the abandonment of Captain Amundsen's expedition, namely, the recent high temperature in North Alaska which has opened dangerous stretches of water in the Arctic ice-pack and caused heaven fogs.

French Senate Votes To Placard Poincare's Speech

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, June 19.—The Chamber of Deputies today voted the placarding of M. Poincare's speech on home policy by 357 votes to 200.

The Senate continued the discussion on the budget, and heard the report of the Minister of Finance, M. de Lasteyrie, who announced an improvement in the budget situation.

In the general debate the Senate heard the reporter of the budget for foreign affairs.

French Customs statistics show that for the first five months of the year the total of imports was Frs. 12,131,000,000 an increase of Frs. 3,347,000,000 as compared with 1922. The total of exports was Frs. 12,182,000,000, an increase of Frs. 3,121,000,000.

FRAWLEYS BACK; TO BEGIN SEASON HERE TOMORROW

Popular Actor-Manager To Be Seen In Opening Bill

The Frawley Company, headed by Miss Adele Blood and T. Daniel Frawley, arrived last night by the steamer Shinyo Maru after a successful tour which extended as far as Bombay and included nearly 200 performances.

T. Daniel expressed himself as gratified with the reception which had been accorded the company and its repertoire of plays all along the line and stated that he had several new plays for the Shanghai theater-going public during the local engagement.

The company opens its engagement here tomorrow night at the Lyceum Theater, the offering being "Enter Madame," a comedy with music which has never been presented here before. Mr. Frawley and Miss Blood will both be seen in this piece. "The Cat and the Canary" is the bill for Saturday evening.

WATERWORKS CO. REFUSES COUNCIL ACCESS TO BOOKS

Directors, However, Indicate Willingness For Conference

A request by the Council that the treasurer and comptroller be given access to the books of the Shanghai Waterworks Company with a view to the possibility of a counter offer of purchase price has been refused by the company, which considers that this would be a departure from the agreement of 1905 with the Council.

The directors of the company however, state that they are agreeable to a conference taking place between the treasurer and comptroller of the Council and the officials of the company in order that the principles upon which the price submitted are based may be explained.

Senawang Rubber Co. Has Yearly Meeting

At the annual meeting of the shareholders of the Senawang Rubber Estates held yesterday morning, the liquidator, Mr. C. J. L. Stewart, who presided said:

Until the liquidation of the Company is finally completed, it is necessary for me in accordance with Section 187—paragraph 2 of the Companies' Ordinances—to call a meeting of the Company at the end of each succeeding year from the commencement of the winding up, to lay before you an account of the conduct of the winding up during the preceding year.

You are already aware that all the liabilities of the old Company are being defrayed as per agreement by the new Company. The assets were also taken over by the new Company, therefore no actual property has come into my possession, hence I have no accounts to submit.

There are still 1,220 shares of the new Company not yet applied for, in exchange for Certificates in the old Company, and unless the old Certificates are soon presented, I shall have the new shares transferred to the name of the Trustee (Mr. R. N. Swann). The Title Deeds of the old Company are now in course of being transferred to the name of the new Company, and after the completion of the transfer I shall then be in a position to fully wind up the affairs of the Company which I hope to be able to do in the course of a month or two.

This, gentlemen, is all I have to report and I thank you for your attendance.

Prosperity Wave Sweeps America

Washington, May 19.—Evidence of the tremendous prosperity wave reported by Secretary of Commerce Hoover is seen in the statistics gathered by his department and showing the supply of jobs to exceed the number of available workers by half a million.

There were substantial increases in sales during March, as compared with February.

Women's clothing sales were 13 per cent above sales for last March and those of men's clothing increased 52 per cent in the same period. Tailors to the trade in the Chicago district report that March business was 90 per cent above that of February and 50 per cent above March, 1922.

WHEAT FLOUR GAINS

Production of wheat flour during March increased over the preceding month and over the corresponding month of 1922, amounting to 10,607,000 barrels, the highest March output on record. The increase was 1,182,000 barrels over February and 909,000 barrels over March 1922. Activity in the milling industry varied from 45 per cent of capacity in the Chicago district to 59 per cent of capacity in the Kansas City district, as compared with 52 per cent and 79 per cent in the respective districts in March, 1922. Little export demand was evident during March, but the upturn in the wheat market during the early weeks of April resulted in increased domestic and foreign trade.

MEAT PACKING ACTIVITY

Meat packing activity, as indicated by the number of animals slaughtered under Federal inspection, increased during March, as compared with February, but decreased slightly from the high points reported in December and January, when the greatest number since December, 1919, were slaughtered. The number of animals slaughtered in March was 6,801,000, compared with 5 997,000 in February, 7,252,000 in January and 5,234,000 in March, 1922. Sales by forty-five meat packing companies reporting to the Chicago Federal Reserve Bank showed a seasonal decline during March and were 3.7 per cent less than in February, but were 5.4 per cent greater than in March a year ago.

LUMBER CUT GROWS

Lumber cut during March by 587 mills reporting to the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association totaled 1,355,082,000 feet, the largest monthly figure since 1918 and the greatest ever recorded for March. Shipments were even larger and equaled 1,479,044,000 feet, as compared with 1,132,320,000 feet by 569 mills in February. Many complaints of a car shortage are reported but such shortage, except in a few districts, is due to the unusually large demand, as statistics of car loadings of forest products for the country as a whole show that loadings each week of this year have exceeded those of the corresponding weeks for all years since 1920.

Operations of building contractors expanded substantially during March and April, while both production and prices of building materials showed large increases. Contracts awarded in ten Federal Reserve districts (compiled from statistics collected by the F. W. Dodge Company) totaled $367,599,000 in March, which was 33 per cent higher than in February.

Building of homes increased in all districts, except Atlanta and Minneapolis, but most of the gain occurred in the industrial sections of the East. The value of building permits at 168 cities in March was 50 per cent larger than in March, 1922, the previous record month.

Prices of building materials advanced 3 per cent in March and were 23 per cent above the low point of March, 1922. Production of oak flooring, clay fire brick and silica brick reached the largest monthly totals since 1920.

FARM PRODUCTS HIGHER

When you turn to agriculture you find a less striking though a material improvement. Prices of principal agricultural products continued their upward movement in March, increasing slightly more than 3 per cent, but were approximately 28 per cent higher on April 1 than on the same date one year ago. The principal crops of the United States, with the exception of the potato crop, which decreased in value in 1922, showed increases in value over 1921.

When the Republican administration came into office in March, 1921, he points out, the country was in the midst of the most tremendous depression in our history. Between four and five million men were unemployed, production in every direction had been stifled, exports and imports had collapsed, agricultural produce had fallen below the cost of production and generally a state of intense demoralization existed throughout the whole economic fabric.

Arrest Of Chihli Leaders Ordered By Pres. Li In Tientsin

(Dah Tong News Bureau)

Tientsin, June 20.—As a result of the conference at the home of President Li Yuan-hung, orders were issued for the arrest of Tsao Jui, brother of Tsao Kun; Chang Kuo-kan, former Minister of Agriculture and Commerce; Feng Yu-hsiang, the Christian general; and Wang Chen-ping, Governor of Chihli. The orders were endorsed by Li Keng-yuan as Acting Premier.

Mr. Yoshihara, the new Japanese Minister and Mr. Funatsu, the Japanese Consul-General at Shanghai, were both received by President Li and Marshal Tuan yesterday.

In deference to the wishes of the banking interests in Peking, Wang Kuo-min will not assume the Finance portfolio in a declaration made to Paoting, but consented to help in his private capacity.

WHEN A PERSON IS LOST IN THOUGHT IT IS PROBABLY DUE TO HIS WANDERING MIND

Japanese Take Another From Limping Gallopers; Bills Plays Great Game

By Westa

Brother Kimball, who proudly boasts that his incurable hoarseness was acquired through shouting for Bryan for President and whose tremendous lung capacity achieved for him the distinction of being Mr. Gallop's Number One customer, pulled a monumental vocal boner at yesterday's baseball party. It was, of course, purely accidental on Brother Kimball's part but it cost us a ball game in spite of the truly Homeric efforts of the Hudford Garage, as represented by Freddy Bills, president and sole owner, and Al Taylor, vice-president and general manager, to prevent it.

Brother Kimball's costly though unintentional slip came in the first part of the first inning, just after Mr. Takahama, the first Japanese batsman, had taken his position at the plate.

"Now, boys," bellowed Brother Kimball, "let's settle down right at the start; who wants this big fellow?"

It so happens (and this probably will be a severe shock to Brother Kimball) that the English words "settle down" have almost the identical pronunciation as the Japanese word meaning "an out curve" and when Takahama heard this phrase he naturally thought that one of the Osaka secret agents in the grand stand had solved the Gallopers' signal system and was tipping him off. Consequently he took his stance for an out shoot and when it came along he just naturally busted it to the outermost part of the rhubarbs for as solid a three base wallop as ever rattled off a bat. He busted it so far, in fact, that except for the ground rule they would have had to organise a relief expedition to retrieve it.

GOT HIS GOAT

That, as you can well understand, was so much of a shock to the Hudford assistant magnate that he became unnerved for a moment, with the result that the next batter up got an Annie Oakley. Worse still, the big chief of all the Hudfords, President Bills himself, lost his customary poise and aplomb temporarily, with the result that when the next batsman shot a weak grounder at him he juggled it an instant, and that, as you can easily figure out for yourself, filled the bases right up to the utmost limit of their capacity, with nobody out.

Well, that made it pretty bad for Mr. Ford's right hand men in the Far East, but they, being stout hearted youths, might have pulled through safely had it not been for the fact that Mr. Stanley Wall had gone into the game without smearing molasses on his hands; a lamentable oversight on Stan's part. Due to this lapse the next ball pitched hopped out of his meat hooks and rolled to the grand stand, which of course permitted the pawing and impatient Mr. Takahama to amble home.

That was one in and two on and one down, and right then came one of the most dazzling plays that Freddy Bills ever negotiated, and Freddy, as it is unnecessary to mention here, has pulled a flock of plays in this and other series here that would knock your eye plumb and completely out.

MORI BUSTS ONE

Mori, the Japanese battery, was at bat, and the Shanghai infield was drawn in for a play on Takasu at the plate. On the first ball pitched Mori slammed one ten feet to Freddy's right that had poison written all over it, yet in some miraculous manner the brilliant shortstopper leaped sideways and grabbed it. The sheer force of the blow knocked him completely off balance, but he recovered, held the runner at third, and by a desperate throw to Kingman got the fleet Mori at first.

Friends and fellow lunatics, she were some grab and some heave.

Ono, next up, signalled a squeeze, and as Takasu came tearing in he laid down a perfect bunt and made Howland hurry to get him at first. Kusaka then flew out to centerfield, ending the agony.

WE GET A COUPLE

The Gallopers went out quickly in the first, although Captain Kingman smashed out a beauty to centerfield after two were down. In the second, though, we staged some fireworks of our own that so worried the ubiquitous Mr. Mori that he decided to quit the back-stopping job which he had undertaken at the start of the game and to assume the pitching assignment.

Wall, first up in our half of the second, hit safely to right and went to third when the Japanese gardener let the ball get past him. Wilhelmni whiffed, and then Thatch drove one into right field that Takahama could not pull down, although he got his gloved hand on it, Wall scoring. Howland struck out and Taylor got a life on Kawagoye's muff of his easy fly. Bills then cracked out a beautiful wallop over second, scoring Thatch and sending Taylor to third. Pepper was out to Ono at first, unassisted. That evened the count.

Nothing more happened until the fifth, in which session the Japanese scored two after two were down, thanks to a base on balls to Takahama, a two base clout by Takasu and a single by Koshomoto.

In our half of the eighth Bills pumped out a corking three base blow to deep right center and w'' nobody down it began to look like we might pull the game out, of

Baseball Notes

It was a good game to watch, even if we did lose.

Wall made a fine try for Koshimoto's foul in the third, but couldn't quite reach it.

Harry Kingman made a beautiful stop of a crash from Kusaka's bat in the fourth, but lost his man due to the fact that nobody covered the base. Harry tossed to the bag in the hope that Taylor, who was tearing over under a full head of steam, would get there before the runner. He didn't, however, and the ball rolled away, allowing Kusaka to take second. "Tay" was a bit slow on covering.

There was very little doing for Shanghai after Mori took up the pitching burden. This lad is a brilliant ball player. As a catcher he ranks with any in the East, and in the two games in which he has pitched here he has shown fine speed and control. He set eight of the Gallopers down on strikes yesterday.

There was considerable barking at Cal Hirsh's umpiring from the stands, although the players didn't seem to object much. A thankless job, hey Cal, ol' timer?

In the eighth, as Bills stepped to the plate, Artie Barrett, assistant war correspondent, remarked that Freddy looked like he had a three bagger in him. No sooner said than the non-paying guests in center field were scrambling to get out of the path of his three base blow.

Freddy Bills got three hits, one of them a three sacker, scored a run, had two very difficult assists and had two hard putouts. Otherwise he might just as well have spent the afternoon in his shop, polishing flivvers. As a golfer Freddy is a great shortstopper.

The Japanese in the grandstands are good sports. They applaud good plays of the opposition, even if they do go wild about their own fellows. That's fair shoolin', hey?

When Herby Gallop looks over those big crowds he just beams and beams and beams. And when he thinks about the weather for next Saturday and Sunday he just hopes and hopes and hopes.

Although Taylor held them to seven hits he didn't seem to be quite as effective as in the first game he pitched. Not until the last two innings did he retire the side in order. He is our big hope for Sunday's game.

Scotty went into center in Wilhelmni's place in the third, but it was not his day with the stick. Better luck next time, Jawn.

Boxing Card Postponed; Sailor Chadwick Leaves

Owing to the non-arrival of the contingent of boxers from Manila the bouts scheduled for the Stadium on Saturday night have been postponed until next week. When the Manila boxers arrive a fine card will be arranged and as the talent that is now on the way here comprises some of the best in the islands it is a cinch that the card next week will be one of the best yet offered at the Stadium.

The main event of interest in boxing circles yesterday was the departure of Sailor Chadwick, who left with his ship for Weihaiwei, where he will remain until September. Chadwick, who made a host of friends here, was loath to leave Shanghai, as he thinks this city will soon be the boxing center of the Far East, and he dislikes to miss the opportunity for action here.

Regarding his bout with Matty Smith, which still continues to be the talk of the town in boxing circles, the sailor's chief regret upon leaving was that the go was not for twenty rounds, as he feels that over the longer distance he could have put the Australian away. Chadwick admits that in giving away eleven pounds to a man of Smith's class he undertook a heavy job, and the next time he meets Smith he will have a little more to say about the weights. However, his parting advice to Smith was to study up on the bird language, as he promises to make him listen to some tweet-tweets when they meet again.

As the sailor hated to leave, so the boxing public here hated to see him go. He won a great circle of friends here, all of whom admired his gentlemanly ways, his clean fighting, and his great skill. All agreed that he is one of the finest little fighting machines that ever stepped into a ring, and all wish him well in his future undertakings. Many there are in this town who believe he is of world championship caliber, and all his friends here are hoping that he may have a go at some of the big 'uns in the fighting game before his days are many more.

Chadwick will return here with his ship in September and as Smith very probably will be here then another match between the two is a foregone conclusion.

Beckett May Be Able To Fight July 4

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 19.—Sir Herbert Barker operated on Joe Beckett this evening.

Subsequently interviewed, he said that Beckett's hand should be well in two or three days. If it were not important that Beckett should fulfil his engagement on July 4, he would advise only gentle exercise during the next few weeks, but Beckett would not run any risk by beginning training shortly and fulfilling his engagement.

Hankow Market

The Hankow British Chamber of Commerce write as follows in their weekly circular dated Hankow, June 13:

Bar Silver 31¾ ready 31⅞ forward on June 7 dropped steadily to 31½, 31⅜ on the 9th, but rose again and closed at 31¾, 31⅞ on the 13th. New York/London Cross Rate dropped steadily from 462¾ on the 7th to 461¼ on the 11th and closed 461½ on the 13th. T.T. rose from 3/2⅝ on the 7th to 3/2⅝ on the 11th and closed unchanged. 4 m/s were placed during the week between 3/3¼, 3/3⅜. Market rates Shanghai taels 96.9625. Local currency $ 70.1. Native interest 12 percent.

Imports.—Piece Goods: Market quiet and clearances poor partly accounted for by the Dragon Festival on the 18th inst.

Yarn:—Market firm and some demand at prices about Tls. 3.00 under Shanghai level.

Exports.—Markets generally are quiet with very little trading the only exception being wood oil, the price of which made another spectacular recovery, and Tls. 35 has been quoted; the market however has been erratic and lower on the week, buyers have apparently covered requirements and have withdrawn from the market, temporarily causing reaction, the only other bulk article moving is ore, of which fairly large quantities are coming down from Hunan. Beans and peas are quoted at considerable above home value and legitimate business is impossible.

Accident Prevention Taught In Schools

Washington, June 11.—The reason 76,000 persons are killed each year in the United States is "largely psychological," according to Mary Noel Arrowsmith, assistant secretary of the education section of the National Safety Council, who declares in the Bureau of Education's publication School Life, that the American people as a nation have "not learned to think in terms of conservation as applied to human life."

Miss Arrowsmith points out that, since 1919, when the council began working toward development of education in accident prevention in the schools, the number of automobile accidents to boys of school age has decreased, and says that in a number of cities there the plan worked out by Dr. E. George Payne of New York University while principal of the Harris Teachers' College at St. Louis, "remarkable results in the reduction of the death rate of school children have been achieved."

Dr. Payne's plan involves no extra study periods, but incorporates various phases of safety efforts as applied to the home, school, play and the streets in other parts of the curriculum. A questionnaire sent to school superintendents by the council brought 276 replies, 142 stating that some form of safety teaching had been introduced as part of the curriculum, 37 as a special subject and as part of the curriculum, and 57 as incidental instruction, while three replies did not bring out information on this point and 17 reported no safety teaching. It was also found that 82 cities had children's safety organizations in at least some of the schools, and 136 of the replies declared school work had been stimulated by the addition of the safety efforts to the curriculum.

Engineering Society Has Annual General Meeting

The annual general meeting of the Engineering Society of China took place in the Old Carlton Cafe at 4:45 on Tuesday afternoon last. A representative attendance of membership was recorded and the Chair was taken by the President, Mr. F. B. Pitcairn.

The routine business of the meeting having been disposed of the president proceeded to deliver the report of the Council upon the work accomplished during the past session.

In the course of his report the president said that during the session a very energetic campaign had been carried out by the honorary treasurer to collect all outstanding subscriptions, with successful results. This had caused an abnormal number of resignations, but it was the opinion of the Council that the type of man who did not take sufficient interest in the Society to pay his subscriptions was no loss. Also opportunity had been taken to delete the names of a number of members who had left China and had not continued the payment of their subscriptions.

The changes recorded during the session under review were as follows: new members elected, 17; members deceased, 3; members resigned, 27; members transferred to honorary membership, 2.

The total membership of the Society at the present time is as follows: honorary members, 8; honorary associates, 16; members, 240; students, 3; total, 267.

Reference was then made to the seven papers delivered during the session, all of which proved of great interest and evoked considerable discussion, and thanks were proffered to the authors in recognition of the thought and time spent, and also to the members participating in the discussions.

Reference was made to the decision of the Council to hold future meetings in conditions which would be more congenial than those prevailing in the past, in order that more interest and discussion might be provoked, and that members might get to know one another better. The first experiment in this direction when a meeting was held at the Old Carlton Cafe, had proved a marked success.

Referring to the finances of the Society the president stated that there were now only sixteen resident members' subscriptions overdue, and that the collectible outstanding dues total about $800, which represented a very distinct advance upon the state of the Society's finances, and opportunity was taken at this juncture to refer to the resignation of the honorary secretary and treasurer, Mr. C. S. Taylor, and to the assumption of his work by Mr. O. L. Ilbert.

Referring to the library, the President expressed the thanks of the Society to the honorary librarian, Mr. S. Webb.

The winner of the Society's Mathematical Bursary was P. O'N. Dunn of St. Francis Xavier's College, to whom a cheque had been forwarded with the Society's good wishes.

The report concluded with a reference to the revival of the Commission on the Training of Chinese Engineers, which was reformed by the Society in January last.

At the conclusion of the delivery of the report its adoption was moved by Mr. T. H. U. Aldridge, seconded by Mr. A. C. Clear and carried unanimously by the meeting, the adoption of the balance sheet being then duly proposed and put into effect. A vote of thanks to Mr. H. B. Woodford on account of his honorary work in auditing the accounts of the Society was proposed by Mr. C. S. Taylor, who took the opportunity of expressing his regret concerning the circulation of an incorrect draft of the balance sheet, notification being made that the corrected balance sheet would be circulated in due course.

The election of the Council for the coming 1923-24 session then occupied the attention of the meeting, and the following members were elected: President, Mr. A. W. Brankston; Vice-Presidents, Mr. C. S. Taylor and Mr. J. A. Ely; Members of Council, Messrs. F. G. Helsby, L. Tweedie Stodart, E. T. Forestier, S. S. Sellick, M. H. Logan, E. A. Mills and D. P. Griffith.

At the close of the meeting Mr. T. H. U. Aldridge proposed a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Pitcairn in respect of his efficient conduct of the office of president during the past session, the proposal being carried by the meeting with acclamation.

ASK TEMPERANCE LECTURE COURSE IN SCHOOLS HERE

Temperance lectures in the local public schools are advocated by the Shanghai Total Abstinence League in a letter directed to the Municipal Council.

The letter states in part:

"We believe that education on the dangers of alcohol takes an important place in the curriculum of all modern, up-to-date schools. We would suggest to you that at the present time there is much need of warning and protecting our younger generation against the evils and dangers of alcohol in Shanghai, where the accessibility and cheapness of liquor, local custom, lower general standards of morals, and, probably most of all, the iniquitous Chit System, make it a peculiar and ever-pressing danger to our youth. And in their interest, as well as in the interest of the community and the world at large, this evil should not be allowed to go unquestioned and unchallenged, as it must unless these young people are given a chance to know the results of scientific and sociological research on this subject, and thus be provided with sound material on which to form their own reasoned opinion."

Official's Son Is Kidnaped At Tsinanfu

Mr. Hsu Kuo-liang, Commissioner of Police of Shanghai and Woosung, is in receipt of a telegram from Tuchun Tien Chung-yu of Shantung, stating that a 12 year old son of his secretary, Mr Hsu Yung-tseng, was recently kidnaped at Tsinanfu. The telegram gives a detailed description of the lost boy and requests the local police authorities to help trace his whereabouts.

Latest reports from Tientsin and other Northern districts state that kidnapers are still very active, despite the vigilance of the authorities concerned. The kidnapers risk death-sentences and the ingenious methods by which they carry on the traffic in children have baffled the authorities.

The Correct Feeding of Infants

No attempt to provide a correct system for the progressive feeding of Infants was ever successfully carried out until the "Allenburys" Series of Infants Foods were introducted. So successful have the "Allenburys" Foods Nos. 1, 2 and 3 proved, that whenever a child is denied the privilege of the mother's milk they are indispensable.

Conseil d'Administration Municipale de la Concession Francaise de Changhai

NOTICE

MUNICIPAL LOAN OF 1923

8.000 debentures of Tls. 100 each
(issued at Tls. 97 each)

Rate of interest 6% per annum

The "Conseil d'Administration Municipale de la Concession Francaise de Changhai" hereby invite subscriptions for 8.000 debentures of Tls. 100 each, issued at Tls. 97 each according to the resolution passed at their General Meeting on the 14th May 1923.

The conditions on which the Debenture Certificates will be issued are:

1°.—The Debenture Certificates are transferable, and the person whose name is entered in the Register of Debenture Certificate or Certificates shall alone be recognised and treated by the Council as the lawful and rightful holder and owner of such Debenture Certificate or Certificates.

2°.—The Debentures will be issued at Tls. 97 each.

3°.—The Debentures will be redeemable at par (Tls. 100 each) in not less than 10 years and not more than 30 years, from 1st December 1933 and according to the figures determinated by the Council.

4°.—The Debentures will bear interest at 6% per annum, payable on the 31st day of May and 30th day of November in each year, when interest warrants will be issued to the registered owners.

5°.—The Debenture Certificates will be issued and bear interest from 1st July 1923.

6°.—Applications for Debentures will be received at the Secretary's Office, Rue du Consulat, from June 20 next.

A cheque representing the amount of debentures asked for and payable on June 30th must be deposited at the same time.

7°.—Applications for Debentures under 97 will not be recognised by the Council.

8°.—For further informations, apply to Mr. P. Legendre, Secretary, French Municipal Council.

Shanghai, 31st May 1923.

By order,
P. LEGENDRE
Secretary.

Asia Banking Corporation

June 20, 1923

Spot and forward bar silver were each down 1-16d. in London yesterday. The New York price declined to 65¾ cents and the London-New York cross rate is unchanged at 462½.

At the opening our official quotations were unchanged from yesterday but as the market was easy throughout the day the Sterling rate was subsequently dropped to 3-1½.

The Gold Dollar rate to 72¼, the Yen rate raised to 68 and the other rates changed accordingly. In the early part of the morning business in Sterling was done at 3-1 13-16 for June delivery, 3-1⅝ for July and 3-1½ for August.

Gold Dollars were done at 72⅞ for June, 72⅝ for July and 72½ for August. However, there became good buyers at these rates and the market eased off closing with on sellers of Sterling at better than 3-1 11-16 for June delivery, 3-1½ for July and 3-1 5-16 for August.

The best sellers of Gold Dollars were offering 72⅝ for June delivery, 72½ for July and 72¼ for forward. There were sellers of Yen at the close at 67½ for June delivery, 67¾ for July and 67⅞ for August.

Banks were quoting 3-2¼ for Sterling bills for this month's delivery and 3-2 for forward. They were quoting 74½ for Gold Dollar bills for near delivery and 74¼ for forward. There were buyers of Franc bills at 1200.

China sold silver in London yesterday and India bought, the market closing steady. New York report their market as quiet.

Blood Poisoning

Yet Another Grand Recovery

Our Portrait is of Mr. WILLIAM HARBORNE, of 6, Railway Road, Perry Bar, Birmingham, England, who writes:

"About two years ago I met with rather a bad accident. My arm was cut severely, and I had to have it stitched at the hospital. This caused me six weeks' absence from work, and after resuming my duties for one week I broke out all over my body with huge Boils. Again I went to the Hospital, and was treated for Blood Poisoning; this happened on three successive occasions, until I began to think I should never be cured. Then I gave Clarke's Blood Mixture a trial, and the first bottle or two seemed to be driving out the poison, so I persevered, and after taking ten bottles I was cured. It is now over twelve months since I left off taking your Clarke's Blood Mixture, and I have seen no signs of any further blood disorder."

CLARKE'S BLOOD MIXTURE, by reason of its remarkable blood purifying properties, can be relied upon to give speedy relief and lasting benefit in cases of Eczema, Bad Legs, Abscesses, Ulcers, Boils, Pimples, Eruptions, Piles, Glandular Swellings, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Gout. Pleasant to take and free from anything injurious.

SHANGHAI, JUNE 21, 1923

WEATHER

Cloudy weather with winds to the Eastern quadrant over our coasts. The typhoon has reached the Eastern Sea by the Meaco-Sima and will raise rough weather probably as far as our coasts. Variable winds with local calms in the South. The high pressures over Japan may still cause the typhoon to approach our coasts to the North of the Formosa Strait. Rough weather over the Eastern Sea.

Britain's Sea Strength

ESTABLISHMENT by the British at Singapore of a naval base, for which Parliament has just appropriated $50,000,000, cannot be regarded as violating either the letter or the spirit of the armament limitation treaty negotiated at the Washington conference. The plan of the English authorities to improve their country's position in the region of the Malay Peninsula must be viewed in the same light as the intention of America to strengthen United States defense in the Pacific by naval improvements in Alaska.

The proposed action of the British would have attracted no general attention in America if Lieut. Col. L. A. M. S. Amery, first lord of the admiralty, had not indulged in the assurance to the House of Commons, as he sought funds for the Singapore project, that England's policy was to "command all the seas." His statement has been interpreted in some quarters in the United States as indicative of Britain's purpose to ignore the arms conference naval ratio, which provides for equality between American and English sea forces.

The admiralty official's words may be taken as the expression of a personal wish or desire rather than as the pronouncement of a new program by the British government. In persuading the Commons to vote the Singapore appropriation, he probably was led by earnestness into making an assertion more emphatic than trustworthy. If so, his brief lapse into unreliability is not without precedence in America, where officials at times have taken exaggerated means to achieve commonplace ends.

The admiralty lord's plan for a naval base in the Malaysia is a matter entirely outside the terms of the limitation of arms treaty, and does not concern the parties to it. His obiter dictum about "command of all the seas" neither expresses his government's naval policy nor commits it to his views.

If England decides to repudiate the Washington pact she may be expected to attach to her declaration more formality than obtains in a heckling debate over an appropriation in Parliament.

The American Administration entertains no misgivings about Britain's adherence to the armament limitation treaty. It respects the pact and has confidence in the good faith of the other signatories.

America no doubt will keep her Navy to treaty strength, and provide it with adequate shore stations. Any other policy would imperil peace.

The Law Of Averages

THE insurance companies that keep a record of the causes of death and injury of their policyholders compile tables from which can be calculated the mortality rate for whole nations. Should an average group of 25,000 persons in the United States be taken in a large city, it would be possible to predict that twenty-one would be killed accidentally during the year. Also it could be foretold with reasonable certainty the specific kind of accident.

Of course many more out of the 25,000 would be injured but would survive their hurts.

Of the twenty-one accidental deaths, four would be killed by automobiles, three by falls, two by burns, one by firearms, one by machinery and the remainder by miscellaneous causes.

It will be seen then that the greatest toll of human life is taken by the automobile. In the whole country the deaths from traffic accidents are more than 10,000 every year. Approximately this is one death for every 10,000 persons in the United States.

In most cases the fatal accidents were due to carelessness, recklessness or to incompetence. Theoretically all traffic accidents can be prevented, but actually this is impossible. It is within the power of the people, however, to reduce materially this appalling record.

The hope for betterment lies in education, in weeding out incompetent and heedless drivers and in teaching caution to pedestrians. The time soon will come when the motorist who drives a powerful car without thought of danger to others or to himself will be denied the privilege of the streets and highways. He will be ruled out just as any other public danger is eliminated.

In order to make it worth while to practice caution, harsher penalties will be imposed for wilful violations of safety regulations. The transgressor will be called upon to pay in full for his heedlessness and his folly. In no other way can society protect itself against a constantly increasing danger. The streets and highways must be made safe. No country will tolerate for long the yearly slaying of 10,000 persons.

Correspondence

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS.

Dear Sir: May I call your attention to the mistake that you made on page 4 of June 19's paper, that the first prize receiver of public speaking of Shanghai College should be Chen He of the class of 1924. There is no Chen Ho in the class of 1923.

Yours truly,
CHEN HE.

June 20, 1923.

More Truth Than Poetry

BY S. E. KISER

The villains are not always foiled
By heroes who are brave and strong;
Not all the heroines, unsoiled,
Are shielded finally from wrong;
The plotter often has his way,
His victim stricken by mischance,
While hope is driven far astray,
And faith is withered by delay,
For life is not a strange romance.

The heroes do not always tear
From cruel, crippling bonds, and fly
To Virtue calling in despair,
Their sinews hard, their valor high;
Life's not a three-act play; the brave
Do not in every case fight through,
Defying flame and wind and wave,
To spoil the purpose of the knave,
But gallantly sometimes they do.

Life's not a story, made to please
The reader who takes up the book;
The girl who claims youth's ecstacies
May learn to have a cheerless look;
No hint reveals what is to be;
Chance may be cruel, fate unkind,
We cannot turn the page to see
That all ends well and happily,
That love has found the way, though blind.

The heroes do not all return
To maidens who have judged them ill;
Not all defeated lovers learn
That they can win who have the will;
Life is not always calm and sweet
Where sacred vows are made by two;
They do not always set their feet
In paths where pleasure is complete,
But luckily sometimes they do.

China And Wireless

The Year Book of Wireless Telegraphy and Telephony, published by the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Co., Ltd., contains the following statement, signed "F. E. Robinson," regarding the position in China:

From the purely technical point of view, no great progress in wireless telegraphy took place during the year 1922. Recent developments in this great country have moved rather on the lines of building up an organisation to operate the existing wireless stations.

The present Government only came into power towards the middle of 1922, and naturally they require time to cope with the problems arising out of such a new science as wireless telegraphy. Like all the Chinese, they leave the most difficult problems until minor ones have been smoothed away; nevertheless, the Chinese Wireless Telegraphy Company—a joint concern of the Chinese Government and Marconi's Wireless Telegraph Co., Ltd., of London—continues its consulting and educational work, and, notwithstanding the many difficulties met with, it has already become firmly established in the commercial field. It goes without saying that its activities will considerably increase once the regulations, now about to be put into force by the Chinese Government requiring all Chinese ships above a certain tonnage to carry wireless apparatus, come into force. This is another indication of China's effort to bring the commercial undertakings of her country into line with those of western countries.

In order to facilitate the maintenance of the increasing number of ships using wireless in the East, the Marconi International Marine Communication Co., Ltd., has established a service and maintenance depot at Hongkong which, in conjunction with similar facilities offered at Shanghai by the depot of the Chinese National Wireless Telegraph Company, constitues another important link in the universal chain of depots established and maintained by the various associated Marconi Companies. Until the year 1922, vessels in the China trade fitted with wireless apparatus worked to considerable disadvantage owing to the absence of wireless depots, but their requirements can now be met at the above depots whether they require complete sets or merely need repairs to existing equipments.

A training school for Chinese wireless telegraph operators is to be opened during 1923 either at Hongkong or at Shanghai.

During the summer of 1922, the 25 kW. are station at Urumsti (Eastern Turkestan) was completed and this station has been in direct communication with several stations in India. The transportation of material for this station and its construction represents quite an important event inasmuch as it links together India and China.

A 25 kW. are station is now under construction at Kashgar and should be completed about middle of 1923. This station is intended to communicate with Urumsti, but it will also be capable of carrying on communication with stations in Russia and India as well.

The 25 k.W. station erected at Urga, the capital of Mongolia, is not at present working owing to the unsettled state of the country, but it is expected that this station will resume work during 1923. When this has been done and when the station at Kashgar is completed, the Government at Peking will be in direct communication with the three great northern trading centres for the interior of Northwest China.

The National Research and Testing Laboratory inaugurated by the Board of Communication has now been completed. It will be run by the six students who passed through a two years' course of instruction at the Marconi College at Chelmsford.

The Wireless Telephone Signal Corps which was formed by the Board of War in 1919, still continues to render great service to the Chinese Army. The entire Corps is under the control of Chinese officers and the apparatus is worked by Chinese soldiers.

The erection of new stations at Harbin, Peking and Canton, is under consideration and a large trans-Pacific station is contemplated for Shanghai. These stations are to be erected by the Federal Wireless Telegraph Co. of America, and they will be under the control of the Board of Communications at Peking.

There is no doubt that a big field for wireless in China will be open in the near future. Those students who have studied abroad are now beginning to put into practice the ideas they have absorbed in western countries. As time goes on and more and more of such men get into power, the use of wireless in China is assured of considerable expansion.

Bobbie And His Pa

BY WILLIAM F. KIRK

It wont be vary long now till we have the brite May days, will it? sed Ma.

No, sed Pa, it wont be long, and then it wont be long unti. we have the howling Winter days aggena. Life is a whizzer, aint it? sed Pa. How fast it goes, the flours and snows, Summer clothes and Winter clothes, sed Pa. That was a kind of cute littel jingel, wasent it not? sed Pa.

Yes, yes, sed Ma. I was jest thinking we shud have a new car this summer.

What is the matter with the good old boat we have now? sed Pa.

All our frends is gitting new cars, sed Ma. I doant want them to think we have our noases to the grinderstone, sed Ma.

What do I care what thay think? sed Pa. We know we can afford a new ottermobeel if we want one, so what do I care what the Joneses and the Smithses thinks? sed Pa. I laff at naborhood gossip, sed Pa, I scorn old Daim Rewmor, sed Pa.

I am not that thick skinned. sed Ma. I dislike beeing discussed, Ma sed.

You doant dislike it much if thay are saying nice things about you, sed Pa. You can stand a lot of that, sed Pa. But you are afrade sumbody will think yure old hubby is a littel weak at the bank, aint you? sed Pa. Fess up. aint you? sed Pa.

I suppose so, sed Ma. I know you maik lots of munny and I cant bare to have sum of the Vicksens in this community say that you are a Piker, sed Ma.

Do any of them dast to say that? sed Pa.

Thay mite say it if we doant have anew Moddil insted of our old car, sed Ma. I jest cant bare to think of anybody thinking my gennerus husband is cheap, sed Ma.

Well, sed Pa, if that is the way you feel thay will nevver have a chanst to say it, sed Pa. We will have a new car. As long as I have the price you will nevver heer a Yawp out of me, sed Pa.

You are a darling, sed Ma. I can jest see us now in that new car. I know 2 or three ladies that will have thare noses out of joint wen we go rolling up the Avvy-nue, sed Ma.

Wimmen is funny, as neer as I can dope it out thay only want new things for other wimmen to see and be jellus of. Us men aint bilt that way, we want cars and new sutes and new houses beekaus that is what we want, I want a heep of things jest so I can know that I have got them things, but I guess thare is a lot ofthings wich I want I will nevver git until I ern my own Doe, then watch me.

THE GIRL WHO SINGS BEFORE BREAKFAST

And The Girl Who Doesn't

Some girls sing as soon as they jump out of bed. Their sleep has done them good, they are refreshed and eager to commence the day; what is more, they are ready to eat a good, substantial breakfast.

Others habitually are late. They rise spiritless and languid, dress with half-closed eyes, and, as often as not, breakfast off a cup of tea—nothing more. Half the day they are dull and faint, exhausted by the least exertion. Headaches and back pains oppress them periodically for days together; stabbing pains attack the chest after food; the complexion has fled, leaving pallid cheeks and bloodless lips.

These languid, backachy, despondent girls lack health and energy simply because the nerves are not getting their full share of rich good blood to feed and nourish them. Yet the surest way to gain the rosy cheeks of health, the energy that comes from strong well-fed nerves, and the joy of robust youth is well within their reach. Tens of thousands of girls and women such as they have found these blessings in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

From the first dose Dr. Williams' Pink Pills create the rich pure blood that overcomes anaemia, nervous exhaustion, debility and weak digestion in both sexes, as well as in women the special ailments of their sex. Of medicine vendors everywhere, or post free at $1.50 per bottle, $8.00 for 6 bottles, from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 60 Kiangse Road, Shanghai. Write for the booklet "Nature's Warnings." New View-Points And To Your General Knowledge

Do not be so stubborn that you will not change your mind.

Some persons have the mistaken idea that it shows weakness to alter one's opinion relative to any subject, once it is expressed.

As a matter of fact greater weakness is indicated by the one who will not change when he is proven to be in the wrong.

The "set" person is not companionable and seldom gets much real happiness out of life because of the constant struggle to maintain a position whether it be right or wrong.

Big men are open to conviction—the little fellows stubbornly stick to their own ideas even when the most convincing proof is presented to them that they have made an error in judgment.

The man who is willing to admit he is wrong learns something.

The man who never admits errors on his part ceases to add knowledge.

It would be well for every person who has set ideas on certain subjects to argue with those who hold opposite opinions.

Get some new viewpoints and add to your general knowledge.

Is Everything Electricity?

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS

The growing belief that everything is electricity, or that electricity is everything, may be thought to find additional support in Dr. D. T. MacDougal's recent explanation of how living matter develops in plants. The protoplasm, or living matter, in a young plant cell, he says, is usually electrically negative. Then when positively charged particles of the material of which the cell is composed are brought into proximity to it, they are attracted to the negatively charged particles, and by union with them, make new living matter in the cell.

But now a process of restoration of the negative state of the protoplasm takes place in the cell, after which more positively charged material is attracted, thus continuing the growth of the cell.

After a time, however, this process ceases, and thereafter the growth stops and there is no more increase of the volume of protoplasm in the cell.

But with the stoppage of the accretion the cells begin to enlarge in another way. They distend, or swell, without any addition to the volume of living matter that they contain. Nine-tenths of the visible growth of a plant, Dr. MacDougal says, is due to this process of distention of the cells.

The forces that now come into play are the same as "those which enter into the mechanism of absorption of the mineral compounds from the soil, which are so necessary for the existence of living matter."

Without going into the technicalities of the subject, here again we find electricity in control. "The distending plant cells by which all soil solutions are taken up, are sacs or bags containing solutions of sugar and other substances, but the walls, unlike parchment, are subject to great changes in permeability by the action of the soil salts. The permeability is affected by the ions of minerals in a degree corresponding to the number and sign of the unit charges of electricity they carry."

It is also in accordance with these properties, we are told, that the plant appears to "select" certain minerals while it rejects others. Carry this to its logical conclusion, and electricity shows its hand in all plant endowments, such as color, perfume, savor form,—the red of the rose, the yellow of the dandelion, the purple of the violet, the apple's tartness, the differing sweets of the peach, the plum, the strawberry, the sugarcane, the maple's sap, and so on almost endlessly.

Nay, we see electrically; we hear electrically; we taste and smell and feel electrically; we hate and love electrically. At bottom, all is electric. Energy is electricity, matter is electricity. Is there anything else? Have we now thoroughly explained nature and life? Or are we within sight of a thorough explanation?

Perhaps some will say promptly "yes." But there are certainly others just as prompt to say "no." These will ask: "What made this universal, protean thing, electricity?" And they will not at all accept the statement that it is absurd to ask such a question, for electricity, being the foundation and essence of everything, needs no explanation—it is because it is.

Is that satisfactory? Can the mind stop there and feel itself forever at rest? If we have reached the real end, why does the question arise: "What lies beyond?" Such a question could not occur if the intellect was absolutely satisfied that it possessed the ultimate truth.

Is the intellect, then, something independent of and superior to this universal element and agent of the physical world—electricity? Or is electricity simply engaged in investigating itself when the scientist pursues his studies in the laboratory? Can you believe that? Can you think that electricity peering through the eyes of the biologist, staring down through his microscope, finds entertainment and instruction in seeing electricity (itself) building living cells out of its own mysterious essence?

The irresistible charm of modern science consists in the vast multiplication of these fascinating riddles which arise like streaming spray from its swiftly advancing cutwater.

Masters As Novelist

BY HARRY HANSEN

SKEETERS KIRBY: By Edgar Lee Masters. The Macmillan Company.

Mitch Miller died before the ripening of his powers, but Skeeters Kirby, the lad with whom he used to roam the Mason County hills in the heart of Illinois, grew up and came to full flower in Chicago. Edgar Lee Masters has traced his development from the time that Mitch died to middle age in "Skeeters Kirby," a book that stands far ahead of "Children of the Market Place" for unity of theme and treatment, and may be regarded as the best prose work that has come from the author of "The Spoon River Anthology."

Singularly there are available at this moment two books that throw new light on Chicago of the nineties—turbulent, unsettled, rough, unlettered Chicago—this novel by Masters and "A Book About Myself" by Theodore Dreiser. Masters has come forth with an eloquent paean for the Dreiser book and the reason is not far to seek, for Dreiser was delving into the very environment that Masters knew best and doing it to the latter's satisfaction. The fact that both books agree so well on the external life of Chicago is evidence in corroboration; we find on examination that "Skeeters Kirby," though fiction, probably reproduces better the emotional and mental life of a young man of that time than even the accurate and veracious chronicle by Dreiser.

Masters has here tried a new experiment—and he is forever experimenting—he has begun the book in the vernacular of a downstate character who has not yet fully mastered his English speech. As the story progresses and the man develops his speech and his thoughts change—and this change Masters has endeavored to reproduce. The idea, therefore, is not that this book represents the memoirs of a Chicago lawyer written in middle age, but comment on his life set down as he lives it. And the intent of the author is set down pretty fully in his opening paragraph:

"'Mitch Miller' was wrote on the idea of comin' out of sleep, and seein' things gradually as you became woke up; and it was about learnin' that your pa and ma and sister was around; and afterward learnin' about the town, and that its name was Petersburg; and afterward learnin' about the Miller family; and then findin' Mitch, and so on, as I wrote in 'Mitch Miller.' And that book was not so much about me as this book will be; but it was wrote on supposin' as you will see by readin' the beginnin.' But this book is different; this book is a telescope, I mean it stretches out, and the further you draw it out, the better you see. And his book is also about modelin' or makin' figure out of clay, which is me."

All the joy and sorrow, the pain, the ache of life is in Skeeters Kirby, and yet his cannot be said to be an unusual, an abormal apparition. His emotional state is in flux; he passes through much of the torment that comes to young men who face life honestly. Judged by puritanical standards Skeeters is a cheat, a libertine, an intriguant; as a matter of fact, he is carried part of the time by the tide, and partly fights against it; he views the sharp practices in law with the desire to abstain from them and to denounce them; in love he is fascinated now by the physical, now by the intellectual type; bewildered at times he wonders what it is all about. "A decade gone in futile labor, in imbecile mirth, in relationships mostly which were like the grabbing of hands upon the runner. I had been stayed, turned aside, in the race. I had torn away and rushed on. I had reached no goal, no prize. . . . I had known discord, hatred, enmity, slavery, pain, ugliness, despair, fear, desire, lust, pride, discouragement—all enervating passion. I could see that the soul can surrender itself to these destroying demons, or call to its aid and its growth the beneficent angels of Friendship, Love, Courage and Beauty. I had sought these gifts with unwearied zeal in all the tumult and noise of the city. . . . But I was yet on the road of the great adventure."

It is another "Memoirs of an American Citizen" with no definite goal, no great achievement in the end—just the living of a life, told honestly, veraciously, with a fine feeling for emotional ecstacies. The keynote may be found in these lines from Faust:

Nur der verdient sich Freiheit wie das Leben
Der taeglich sie erabern muss.

As a study of a man in his environment and his reaction to his times "Skeeters Kirby" has merits that raise it above the novels of this kind that have been published in America the last five years.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is particularly a preparation for Infants and Children made agreeable to the taste, acceptable to the stomach and pleasant in its action. It has been in use for over thirty years and has always been one of the most highly esteemed of all cathartic preparations. It has one great advantage over other preparations of its kind in that while it opens the organs readily and completely, it does not have a tendency to produce subsequent constipation so much to be dreaded.

It was only after years of research in the fields of herbs and roots for a combination of purely vegetable matter that would have all the virtues of Castor Oil, without its disagreeable, nauseating properties, especially when used for infants or children, that the formula used in Fletcher's Castoria was found, and which for over 30 years has proven its worth. Try it.

Save the Babies.

Infantry mortality is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in ivilised countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one quarter die before they reach one year, thirty-seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen! We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestion, sickness, death. To avoid any possibility of giving your child opiates, or narcotics of any kind, keep Fletcher's Castoria in the house, and Save the Babies.

Thomas Mellows Held For Supreme Court On Fraud Charges

Confesses Guilt In Nine Of Ten Counts Against Him In Police Court

After he had confessed to nine of the ten charges that had caused him to be arrested Thomas Mellows, son of a well known Shanghai family, was held for trial before the British Supreme Court when he appeared for trial in the Police Court before Magistrate D. R. Cooke yesterday.

Young Mellows pleaded guilty to all the charges against him except the fifth in which he is alleged to have obtained $200 from Edward John Allen by false pretenses. He said he would have a defense to put forward when he came up for trial.

The ten charges against Mellows were:

(1) Obtaining a suit of clothes and 12 shirts by means of false pretences from Wing On's store.

(2) Obtaining a cheque book valued at 50 cents from the Chinese American Banking Corporation, Nanking Road, by means of false pretences and with intent to defraud.

(3) Forging and uttering a document purporting to be a banker's draft for $8,000.

(4) Forging and uttering a letter purporting to be signed by a Mr. Green.

(5) Obtaining from Edward John Allen the sum of $200 by means of false pretences and with intent to defraud.

(6) Obtaining $11 credit by fraud from C. S. Chang.

(7) Obtaining $107 credit by fraud from Loh Ching-pau.

(8) Obtaining two neckties and six collars from Mr. Sakahari, Boone Road, by means of false pretences.

(9) Obtaining a suit case valued at $13 from W. P. Hsu by means of false pretences.

(10) Obtaining goods to the value of $8.50 by means of false pretences from the Yuen Hong Printing Co.

CALLS IN TAILOR

Loh Ching-bao, ladies' tailor, of 979 Broadway, said that on April 28 two ladies came to the shop and asked him to go to 31 East Seward Road. He went in the evening, and there saw two women and two men. Accused was one of the latter, and said, "Whatever clothes this lady orders I will pay for." He came downstairs and said he had telephoned to his home at 8 Astor Road.

The tailor was told on the 'phone by the No. 1 boy that he (accused) was a "rich man," and witness need not be afraid but could get on with the clothes. The tailor did not know that it was actually the boy at No. 8 Astor Road who was speaking, but the accused told him it was so and invited him to listen. He added that his father was the head of the River Police. Accused said:

"If I do not pay for the clothes you can go to my father for the money."

Some clothes were ordered, five dresses for the two ladies. The dresses, valued at $107, were delivered by him, but payment was not made although promise had been made that witness would be paid on May 4. On the Monday accused said it was Race Day and all firms were closed. Witness went on Wednesday, May 10, and that day he brought out a paper and said that some affair with the lawyer had not been settled.

SIGNS NEW CHIT

On the 12th he signed a chit for witness to go to his father for money in three days' time. At that time accused went to the shop and said his affairs had been settled, and he would be in possession of money. The bill was not paid, and witness was "put off" until the 16th. On the 17th the two ladies came in the morning and said the "master" would come at 5 o'clock.

Accused came and gave witness a cheque dated May 18, telling him to go and get the money at 2 o'clock on the next day. The bank gave a chit marked "Refer to drawer." The cheque was for $150, as more goods had been ordered. Three dresses had been returned, but two of them had been worn and were spoiled. These were returned on the 19th.

How did you get the dresses back? An Inspector went with me to Room 70, Great Eastern Hotel.

POLICE RESCUE DRESSES

You got them through the Police? Yes.

Why did you go to the Police station? A Russian gave me a chit and told me to go.

Did you see the accused in the hotel? No, he was not there, when I got the dresses back.

Witness said he would not have supplied the dresses if he thought the accused had no money.

Defendant asked if he did not refer first of all to 16 Broadway, when phoning? Witness said he did not know where accused was staying. The telephone book with the two numbers, 8 Astor Road and 16 Broadway, was not shown to him.

ALLEN TELLS STORY

Edward John Allen, of 3 Dixwell Road, said he was unemployed, and not married. He had known the accused since last December and loaned him money in May, $30 and $170.

Why did you lend it to him? Because he had shown me two Bank drafts, original and duplicate on the Chinese American Bank of Commerce for $8,000.

Did he show you anything else? Yes, a letter from White Cooper & Master, saying there was $14,000 in the Shanghai Bank and $8,000 in the Chinese Bank.

That letter was signed by Green? Yes.

You thought he was a well-off man? Yes.

Did he offer you work? Yes.

What work? Manager of the Nanking Garden Cinema in Nanking.

Witness referred to the dresses, three of which had been returned. Mellows was to pay for new clothing for the women and witness before they went to the Nanking cinema. He was living with one lady, witness with the other, at 31 East Seward Road. The arrangement was that the accused was to pay all debts and also fit out the two women with new clothes and the witness as well.

Did he pay any of your debts? Yes. $50 out of his own money.

Did he pay for your places at Seward Road? Yes, $50 before we went to Nanking. He was to make a contract with me.

HE MADE CONTRACT

What happened? He made a contract with Mr. Loh Yuen-pou in Chinese and English.

The Magistrate: This man was engaged there? Yes, he was manager.

By Mr. Maitland: Do you know by what date the accused was to take over the management? Not later than May 15.

And he was to go up to Nanking on the 15th or earlier? Yes.

What did he do on the 15th? He borrowed $170 from me to pay our board and then we were to move to the Great Eastern Hotel.

Did he go to Nanking on the 15th? No. He did not go.

Didn't you think it was funny? He told me he had sent telegrams. Naturally I thought it was correct. He had two or three receipts for telegrams he had despatched to Nanking. One telegram I sent myself.

What was his excuse for not going? The lawyers and the banks had not finished about his money.

Did he go away subsequently? On the 19th, at least that was the last I saw of him—that was on the 18th.

You were all staying at the Great Eastern Hotel? Yes.

WAS TO PAY BILLS

Who was to pay for the hotel? The accused.

And if he had not said he was going to pay you would not have moved from East Seward Road? No.

What did you do when you found he had not gone to Nanking and had not paid? He telephoned to me and said he would be back at 3 that afternoon. Nothing happened but about 7.15 p.m. he telephoned again and said that he had sent me a letter explaining things and that he had got into trouble over something. In the letter he said he was going to Tsingtao.

That is what he told you? Yes, on the 'phone.

Did you receive a letter from him? Yes.

Is this it? Yes.

Mr. Maitland then read the following letter:—

My dear friend Eddie,

I am writing this letter to let you know that I am in a HELL of a fix and have to beat it out of town. I am going to Tsingtao, but keep this mum pro tem.

If anything should happen about the Great Eastern show this letter to the dean and ask him to help you out, as you all trusted me and never expected this thing to come off.

I am writing this to tell you that Mr. Edward John Allan, Mr. Maksakova and also Mrs. S. Ivanova have nothing to do with what happened with either debts or checks issued. They were all under the impression that the said things were true.

They are absolutely INNOCENT of anything at all. I am the one to blame, as black as I am I play the game with my friends and I do not wish innocent people to suffer. Ted, old man, I am sorry, and I hope you will all forgive me, old man. Keep this, and I hope you will not think too bad of me, as I have played the game by writing this letter, and God knows that you are all INNOCENT.

I remain,

Your sorrowing pal,

Thomas Edward Mellows.

Witness added that he gave a chit to the tailor to go to the Police.

Pauline Maksanova, a professional singer, said that accused told her it was not necessary for her to take engagements. She thought he was in a good financial position. The bank drafts and other documents she had seen.

THE CHINA GENERAL OMNIBUS CO., LTD.

The above named Company is issuing a Prospectus inviting subscriptions for 47,500 ordinary shares of Tls. 10 each payable as to Tls. 5 on Application and as to Tls. 5 on Allotment. The Prospectus states, among other things, as follows:

"The object for which this Company is being formed is to establish and operate a service of Motor Omnibusses in Shanghai and the surrounding district for the purpose of providing the public with additional and comfortable means of transport. The Council have intimated to the Promoters that in the interests of the Ratepayers they view the proposed inauguration and operation of Motor Omnibusses with favor, as being a probable means of relieving the present congestion of traffic in the main streets of the Settlement, and that they are prepared to give every facility to the Company provided the Company continues to use very means in its power to give efficient service and comfortable transport to the public of Shanghai. The Council have sanctioned the operation of Motor Busses over ten routes but should it be found advisable in the interests of the public to vary such routes or to extend them, the assent of the Council is assured."

The Company proposes at the outset to purchase a fleet of 30 Motor Omnibusses, of the best and most modern type procurable. The Company's technical representative will at once visit England and America with this object and he will at the same time engage the services of an expert Traffic Superintendent and a Maintenance Superintendent so that the requirement of the Public may be served by officials of adequate and long experience in order to ensure that the operation of the proposed Service shall be as perfect as skilled experience can achieve.

"It is the Company's intention to provide the public with rapid, smooth, regular and comfortable transport at a moderate cost, and it will be the Company's aim to prevent overcrowding and to provide every passenger with a seat.

"The maximum fare permitted by the Council is ten cents per mile for 1st Class accommodation and five cents per mile for 2nd Class accommodation.

"The average length of one Route or single trip is 2.4 miles. The maximum average earnings permitted by the Council tariff are $4.90 per bus per trip. The Company anticipates that no first class fare on any route now authorised will exceed 20 cents or second class fare 10 cents. On this basis if running full time the average earning per Bus per trip will be $4.10.

"Very carefully considered estimates have been drawn up wherein provision has been made for the Busses to operate 12 hours per day carrying only 50 percent of the maximum seating accommodation; the maximum first class fare has been based on a charge of 5 cents per mile and the maximum second class fare on a charge of five cents per trip, the total average earning capacity of each Bus being taken at $1.18 per trip.

"The busy or rush periods when the Busses will be full have, for the purpose of this calculation, been entirely ignored.

"On a Capital of Tls. 500,000 the amount of the proposed first issue covering the purchase and operation of a fleet of 30 Motor Busses of the most modern design operating on four routes only, and after allowing for all running expenses, and for half the fixed or overhead charges, which have been estimated to cover 10 Routes the investment shows a profit of 1 1½ per cent per annum.

"Negotiations are in progress with the Council for permission to operate Motor Busses on Special Routes for Special Purposes and it is hoped in time to be able to serve the public in the evening by providing special Busses running from Residential Districts to the Theaters, Cinemas, etc.

"With the rapid development of the outlying districts of Shanghai the possibilities of the Company's future activities are almost unlimited. The Promoters are convinced that the Shanghai public will readily welcome the inauguration of this new means of transportation and it will be the Company's constant aim to cater for public requirements and to furnish such good service that demands for extensions of the service will be made within a very short period."

Copies of the full Prospectus and form of Application can be obtained at the office of Company, 6 Kiukiang Road or from the Company's Solicitors, White-Cooper, Master and Harris, 1 Museum Road or from Messrs. Benjamin & Pott, Brokers, 11 Jinkee Road.

This notice is not to be regarded as an invitation to the public to subscribe for shares and application will only be received on the footing of the full Prospectus and in the form issued therewith.

AMERICAN MAIL OUT SATURDAY BY PRESIDENT SHIPS

The next mail for the States will be dispatched on the President Jackson and President Pierce early Saturday morning, closing at 9 p.m. tomorrow. The Jackson left Hongkong at 10 o'clock this morning and is to arrive in Shanghai tomorrow morning. The vessel will probably dock at the China Merchants' Central Wharf and is to sail for Seattle via Kobe and Yokohama at 4 o'clock Saturday morning.

The Pierce will also arrive in port from Hongkong tomorrow morning and is to berth at the Blue Funnel buoys. The liner is sailing for San Francisco via Kobe, Yokohama and Honolulu Saturday morning, and the tender with outgoing passengers will be announced later.

With mail from the States, the Presidents Wilson and Grant are due to arrive in Shanghai today and Sunday respectively. The Wilson, which comes from San Francisco via Honolulu, Yokohama and Kobe, has on board 641 bags of mail as well as a heavy list of passengers and freight, and will dock at the China Merchants Central Wharf about 5 o'clock this morning. It is scheduled to sail for Hongkong and Manila at 6 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The Grant is coming from Seattle via Japan ports and will also dock at the Central Wharf sometime next Sunday. The liner arrived at Yokohama at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning, and has on board 1,178 bags of American mail, 1,800 tons of cargo and a full list of passengers for Shanghai.

The Shinyo Maru will leave Woosung for San Francisco today, and the tender with outgoing passengers is to sail from the Customs jetty at 10 a.m. The steamer arrived at Woosung from Manila yesterday afternoon, and incoming passengers from the ship were landed last night.

The Angers will sail for Marseilles tomorrow evening, and the outbound passenger tender will leave the French Mail jetty at 2 p.m. and the Delta is going to London at daybreak Saturday. The tender with outgoing passengers for the Delta will leave the Customs jetty at 6.30 o'clock tomorrow evening. Mail matter for Europe will close at 1 p.m. and 4.30 p.m. tomorrow for the Angers and Delta respectively.
